RUN #2137

The 'Nether-field' Run – Swamp, Tart-ann, Soft-N-Creamy.

No run report sent, so here goes. Poke-her you are on ICE for not sending the report and you owe me a 6-pack.

The horde gathered at the new residence of Swamp, Tart-Ann and Soft-N-Creamy. The trailer had some difficulty in positioning due to the number of vehicles on the road. Homo, Wart and others directed our brewmister (Miss Daisy) in positioning the trailer into the shed so as all can get easy access to the piss. Eventually the runners and the walkers were sent off in the same direction. The runners followed 'white' chalk markings while the walkers followed the 'pink' markings. The gang ran / walked through the streets of Annandale. A piss-stop was held near the Townsville Junior Grammar school, consisting of Vermont, lemonade and ice. Orgasm, who was following the 'pink' trail got geographically embarrassed momentarily. Eventually the pack all made it back to 'Netherfield' to 'Swamp's' cheese balls, veggie sticks and dip. The circle was called, various down-downs were issued by the G.M. Cat-Blew was rewarded with her 'coleslaw' which she allegedly left at Touch-ups abode. Various runners received their awards for achieving their various celebratory runs. (350, 400, 450, 600 and 700 runs) – well done to all recipients. 1001 charges from the floor were spouted. Nosh was served, consisting of 'hot-dogs' and an array of condiments. Good night, excellent run / walk, top nosh and copious quantities of piss was consumed. On-On (Editor).

(Hash House Harriers from Hertfordshire, U.K)

A man walked into a bar, leading an crocodile on a leash. He asked the bartender, "Do you serve pollys here?"

"Sure do," said the bartender.

"Good," replied the man. "Give me a VB, and the croc will have the polly."

A politician and two of his cronies, Bill and John, were fishing when their boat capsized. Bill and John started to panic because they'd seen sharks in the area.

"No worries, mates," said the politician and he started to swim towards the island to get help.

As he swam, John spotted the dorsal fins of two great white sharks heading straight toward the politician. Before he could yell a warning, the politician took hold of their fins and the sharks escorted him safely to shore.

When the politician returned with help, John asked him how he had managed such an amazing feat. The politician answered, "Professional courtesy."

A blonde ran into the house breathless. She said to her roommate, "I just saved $2 by not taking the bus. I chased it all the way home."

Her roommate, another blonde, said, "That's nothing. I chased a cab yesterday and saved myself $20."

How many programmers does it take to change a light bulb?

None. That's a hardware problem.

A funeral procession drives past a golf course. Lining up to make his putt, Angus stops what he's doing, holds his hat over his heart and bows his head as the hearse goes by. He goes back to lining up his putt.

His playing partner says, "You're quite the gentleman to show such respect for the dead."

Angus sinks his putt and says, "Well, she was a good wife for twenty-five years."

An optimist says the glass is half-full.

A pessimist says the glass is half-empty.

A programmer says the glass is twice as large as it needs to be.

An oxymoron is a word or set of words that combines contradictory terms. Here are some oxymorons that make you go hmm. No belly laughs, but smiling inside makes you feel good too:-

baby grand, barely dressed, fast idle, faulty logic, genuine imitation, sad clown, safety hazard, science fiction, second best, silent alarm, paid volunteer, questionable answer, living dead, living fossil, deliberate mistake.
