Run 2461 – Cuttlefish – Gladys St, Kelso

Well it was Monday night again and the run was out the back of Woop, Woop. A small pack arrived and off we went – Runners and Trotters one way and Walkers the other way. It wasn't long and the runners ran into the walkers again. The runners, all four of us, split up with two short-cutters (Inn-Bread & Ewok) who left, leaving just two of us to do the whole run. Plenty of HC's and a good distance run. Runners, Trotters and Walkers all made it back to where the trailer dwellers were hanging round the security of the piss trailer.

There were down downs for the trail setter, GM for eyeing off Cuttlefish's resident possum and baby thinking that it would make a good hat! Bentabeak told a joke and also got to keep the Prick of the Week shirt because he forgot to bring it. Inn-Bread was lucky enough to get the Erectus and there were a few lucky bastards that won the raffles.

I thought Cuttles had some chooks later in the night but I looked again and it was just the Harriettes all clucking as if they all layed eggs.

All in all a great run, and walk, great nosh, and great company. Well done Cuttles – a great night.

On on, Wart

And now for some “Political Correctness” – Although it is common knowledge that that term is really subject to “individual” viewpoints:

Husband: I think I'm having a heart attack ...
Wife: Ok honey, give me the password to your phone so I can call an ambulance.
Husband: Never mind. I'm feeling better.

Husband: What's for dinner?
Wife: Nothing.
Husband: We had nothing last night.
Wife: I know – I made enough for two days.

Husband: Why did you marry me?
Wife: Because of your sense of humour.
Husband: I thought it was because I'm good in bed.
Wife: See what I mean? You're hilarious!

Wife's friend: How did you meet your husband?
Wife: I'm a pharmacist. He came to buy condoms and asked for XXXXXL. It was only after we got married that I realized he stutters!

Husbands are the best people to share secrets with. They'll never tell anyone, because they aren't even listening.

I was mugged by a thief last night on my way home. Pointing a knife at me, he said, “Your money or your life!”
I told him I was married – so I have no money or life. We hugged and cried together – It was a beautiful moment.

Finally – a unisex one: Nobody told me that when you get a spouse the ears are sold separately.
