RUN REPORTS – shappensh3@gmail.com Ph: 0418 410 394
send to Shit Happens– BY THURSDAY NIGHT PLEEZE

For no really good apparent reason a pretty small pack of about 25 gathered at Chez Shocker and Orgasm for our usual Monday evening jaunt. Right on 6 those of us who wanted to were set off onto the streets of Kirwan. There were about six runners, two twotters and about a dozen workers, sorry walkers! After a short aimless wander we arrived in reasonably quick succession at "Wheeler Circuit Park" on Greenwood Drive for a drink stop of some pretty popular concoction with a bit of rumbo in it.

We then headed along Wheeler Circuit, across the local canal/drain/creek, (- you decide what to call it), then skirted Greenwood Park for a return to the Bucket. Very pleasant snacks were served, raffle tickets sold, and several swills swallowed before the Circle was called (in the normal subtle sense!!!) After the usual, and some unusual down-downs the Erectus was passed on from Self Abuse to Notso Insane (for being a new legend), and the PoW from Shatter to Nicker-Less?

Very pleasant, tasty vegetarian and non-vegetarian nosh was then savored (maybe scoffed-down is a more appropriate term) before the pack slowly broke up and returned home.

One final comment about, without a doubt, the cutest attendee. Though too young to be a fully-fledged TVH3 Harriette, Mercedes certainly grabbed the pack's attention and in only about 16 years will be able to join the club!

On on, Copit and Blow Back (See you next week for redress.)

History of the Red Dress Run

An event held annually by some chapters is the "Red Dress Run".

In 1987, Donna Rhinehart was taken to a hash in Long Beach, California, to be introduced to the sport. She was invited to "wait in the truck" until her host returned. Instead Rhinehart joined the hash in her red dress.

The following year, the San Diego Hash House Harriers sent Rhinehart an airline ticket to attend the inaugural "Red Dress Run".

Hundreds of hashers wore red dresses for the event which was widely covered by local media.

In addressing the crowd, Rhinehart, or "The Lady in Red" as she became known, suggested that such hashes might be held to raise funds for local charities. The event quickly spread around the globe to places such as Beijing, Montreal, Helsinki, Osan/Yangsan Hashers, Moscow, Tokyo, New Orleans, Washington DC and Hobart in Australia.

Over the years, it has raised millions of dollars for charity.

The New Orleans Hash House Harriers attracted 7,000 participants to their Red Dress Run in 2010, raising more than $200,000 for 50 local charities.

Today the Red Dress Run is another part of the Hash House Harriers' heritage. Rhinehart died in 2013 as the Hash House Harriers were celebrating the 25th anniversary of their Red Dress Run.
